A Note From The Composer

Primitive Episodes is a series of short musical episodes that represent a tribe of primitive natives. There is extensive use of percussion, using a variety of effects. Multiple sets of congas and bongos may be used, as these parts always double each other. The use of the rain stick is highly desirable, but not required. It is used in conjunction with the wind chimes to create an ethereal effect, like wind through the jungle. The flute solos should sound exotic, depicting some sort of solo dancer. All parts in the percussion section should be covered, requiring a minimum of six players (more could be used easily.) Directors are encouraged to experiment with other percussion instruments while working this piece including the guiro, cuica, djembe, cabasa, roto-toms, claves, caxix, and various hand drums to achieve an authentic primitive effect.

My primary influences for this work include: Nelhybel's Festivo, Mellilo's A Walk in Jurassic Park, and the primitive works of Stravinsky.
